The Millennium Challenge Corporation is a U.S. government agency working to reduce global poverty through economic growth. Created in 2004, MCC provides time-limited grants and assistance to countries that meet rigorous standards for good governance, fighting corruption and respecting democratic rights.

DALE PFEIFFER VISITS KOSOVO

In October, KAEF founder and committee member Mr. Dale Pfeiffer visited Kosovo. During his time in Kosovo, Mr. Pfeiffer, together with KAEF committee members and staff, held a series of important meetings with government officials, political leaders, private sector representatives, and members of the American Chamber of Commerce in Kosovo. During the week, Mr. Pfeiffer also had a number of media appearances, including a radio interview, and a TV interview where he was joined by a KAEF alumnus. These meetings were highly productive in that they elicited strong support from all the interlocutors.

During this visit, an informal gathering with the program alumni was organized, where in addition to networking, alumni had a chance to exchange ideas on sustaining the program, past its 18th year of operation.

The aim of Mr. Pfeiffer's visit was to emphasize the important role that the KAEF program has had, since its establishment in 2004, in transforming Kosovo's economic development through education, as well as to rally support for the continuation of its impactful work.

FELLOW UPDATE: DREN KRASNIQI

Dren Krasniqi (MBA, Brandeis University '23) - "I have always wanted to pursue my master's studies because I am passionate about learning and want to further my business knowledge. KAEF scholarship offered me the unique opportunity to study at a prestigious institution and receive mentorship from experts in my field. The scholarship program also provided me with a generous financial package that allowed me to focus on my studies without worrying about the financial burden of pursuing a master's degree. Additionally, the program's emphasis on community engagement and leadership was highly appealing, allowing me to give back to my community through service. I am thrilled to be part of the KAEF scholarship program and am excited to see where it will take me in my academic and professional journey.

Brandeis International Business School offers a rigorous educational experience in the context of an inclusive, caring campus environment. Students and faculty are warm, engaging and will go out of their way to make you feel at home. Classes are interactive, informal and typically small, allowing students to get to know their professors and one another. At the same time, Brandeis International Business School has a global feel, as I met classmates and faculty from more than 20 nations.

As I approach the final semester of my studies in the U.S., the most valuable aspect of my experience has been interacting and networking with individuals from different cultures. Through this program, I have been able to make friends who will be my future connections around the world. The practical approach of the American education system has greatly enhanced my skills in data analytics, business dynamic, and public speaking. Moreover, it helped me in developing my professional skills, like working on my resume, cover letters, elevator speeches, and personal branding.

Having lived in the U.S. before, as part of a work and travel program, I understood the cultural difference between Kosovo and the U.S. However, one factor that can contribute to culture shock is the overwhelming number of choices available in the U.S. For example, there are numerous restaurants, stores, and entertainment options to choose from, which can be overwhelming for someone who is not used to such a wide range of options. Additionally, the fast-paced nature of life in the U.S. can be a source of culture shock for some students. Adjusting to these differences and navigating the abundance of choices can be difficult at first, but with time and patience, most students are able to adapt and fully embrace the cultural diversity of the U.S.

To be part of this wonderful experience, start the application process early since it will give you plenty of time to complete the application and gather all the required materials. It is also essential to tailor your application to the scholarship by showing how your background and goals align with the mission and values of KAEF. Lastly, if you have any questions or need help with your application, don't hesitate to seek support and guidance from KAEF alumni.

FELLOW UPDATE: FJOLLA AZEMI

Fjolla Azemi (MSBA, Bentley University '23) - "I am overjoyed to have graduated from the Business Analytics program at Bentley University. My experience there has been nothing but rewarding, both professionally and personally. I've always been interested in how data can be used to make better business decisions, improve operations, and gain a competitive advantage. This degree allowed me to expand my knowledge of data mining, machine learning, data visualization, and statistical analysis while also developing my business acumen. On the other hand, this experience allowed me to immerse myself in new cultures and learn from peers and professors about the field's rapidly growing trends."

"I will be eternally grateful to KAEF for assisting me in achieving this goal, and I hope to give back to the community what was given to me!"

AMCHAM KOSOVO'S ANNUAL CHARITY GALA DINNER RALLIES SUPPORT FOR KAEF

On December 9th, the American Chamber of Commerce in Kosovo held its annual Charity Gala Dinner, the first one since the breakout of the COVID-19 pandemic. On behalf of the KAEF program, the KAEF team, joined by alumni, attended the event and had a chance to thank AmCham members for their generous contribution.

The KAEF program is dedicated to continue its impactful work on educating talented Kosovans, and bring positive change to Kosovo's future!
